Fred is Course Leader for BA (hons) Performance Design and Practice at Central Saint Martins, University of the Arts, London. She co-convened the Scenography working group at TaPRA (Theatre and Performance Research Association), and is a Fellow of the HEA and The Arts Foundation.

Fred trained at The Royal Welsh College and received an Arts Council Designers Bursary. She works on productions that are representative of the devised, collaborative and new writing agendas that are her concerns, and continues to work collaboratively for new writing and site-specific projects, alongside established texts in traditional theatres.

Fred has exhibited at The Prague Quadrennial in 1999 and 2003, winning the Golden Triga, and was selected to exhibit at The World Stage Design in Toronto 2005, and in the National Society of British Theatre Designers Exhibitions. Her work is also part of the V&A Museum permanent collection. Other awards include The Jerwood Design award and a Year of the Artist award.
